Lunch at Lymington Town Sailing Club
Thursday 14th October 2021

On a beautiful day for mid-October with light west/southwest breeze, a blue sky and lightly rippled Solent, some twenty-seven of us gathered in the Lymington Town Sailing Club for lunch. I am indebted to Roger for his photos, for, although I had my camera, I forgot to use it!

There was a slight hiccup in that the party on the “Commodore’s Barge” believed that they should arrive no earlier than 1300, so the Chef was getting slightly worried about service and I was seriously concerned that they might have been arrested by Border Force or even gone to the “other club”. It was rumoured that the delay was due to Brian’s insistence that, as the tide was ebbing and he feared grounding, they lighten ship by depleting his drinks locker. Had he called for help there would have been no shortage of volunteers.

Sadly this reason (excuse) for delay will not apply to our next cruise as it will be at the Club on Thursday, 25th. November to hear the exploits of Didi Nicholson and Susannah Seely as they circumnavigated Britain aboard their small yacht. This will be followed by lunch.

As this event is now open to all Club members, bookings not already made to me, will be through Lucy who will publish the time and menu.

Next year’s planning is well under way, so suggestions for new and more adventurous cruises are welcome.
